

The Shopping Hat

by Alison Hedger

AHCM329

There was a silly lady who bought a fine new hat,
But she didn't think she liked it all that much.
She looked into the mirror with her hat upon her head
And smiled a little smile, and laughingly she said:

"I'll take a bit off here and I'll tidy up the back,
I'll trim the front and cut it here and there."
When all the snipping stopped, and her hat was very lopped
She wore the chopped up hat whilst she shopped.

Copyright 2010 Alison Hedger